ABOUT US

Founded in 1975 by Denys Darlow, the London Handel Society is recognised as one of the UK's most cherished arts organisations and is widely regarded as the home of Handel's music in London.

Central to the Society's work is the annual London Handel Festival. Taking place each year around Handel's birthday, the flagship Festival features a programme of Handel-inspired performances and events from internationally acclaimed artists and ensembles in venues across London, Handel's adopted home. In 2024, leading period-instrument ensemble Arcangelo was appointed the Festival's Principal Ensemble in Residence, and its Artistic Director, Jonathan Cohen, joined the Festival as Artistic Adviser. Prior to this, leading Handelian Laurence Cummings was the Festival's Musical Director for 25 years.

In addition to its concert programme, the London Handel Festival has long had a reputation for presenting staged productions of Handel's works. For many years, the Festival enjoyed a partnership with the Royal College of Music, presenting more than 30 productions together.

In 2023, the Society launched the Handel Opera Studio, an in-house producing wing of the Society, which has rapidly gained an international reputation for its bold stagings of Handel's lesser-known dramatic works in non-traditional spaces. Recent productions include In the Realms of Sorrow (2023), directed by Adele Thomas; Tales of Apollo & Hercules (2025), directed by Thomas Guthrie; and Tamerlano (2026), directed by Orpha Phelan.

As part of the 2027 London Handel Festival, the Studio will revive its acclaimed 2024 production of Aci, by the River, directed by Jack Furness.

Supporting emerging talent remains one of the Festival's core principles, and it promotes recitals by students from London's music colleges, including the Royal College of Music and the Royal Academy of Music. The International Handel Singing Competition, founded in 2002 by former Musical Director Laurence Cummings, is regarded by many as the jewel in the Festival's crown. It has been the launchpad for some of the world's most recognised soloists.

Alongside its performance programme, the Society runs a year-round Creative Learning and Participation programme, which aims to ensure that everyone has access to the power of Handel's music. Highlights have included a partnership with Coram, regular youth Come and Sing! events, relaxed performances, and a growing number of smaller events as part of expanding Summer and Autumn Seasons.

WELCOME TO OUR 2027 FESTIVAL PASSION, DRAMA & DIVINITY

It gives me great pleasure and delight to introduce to you the 2027 London Handel Festival: Passion, Drama and Divinity.

Featuring some of Handel's most evocative and visceral works, performed by a number of the world's leading baroque ensembles and interpreters of Handel's music, 2027 promises to be another incredibly special year.

At the heart of the programme, our Principal Ensemble in Residence, Arcangelo, and our Artistic Advisor, Jonathan Cohen, return with three distinct programmes. Their opening night performance has become one of the most anticipated evenings at each Festival, so book early to avoid disappointment. Other notable highlights of the 2027 programme include LHF favourites The English Concert, who return with a rare concert performance of the 1727 opera Admeto, re di Tessaglia. I am also particularly excited that baroque superstars Il Pomo d'Oro and the world-famous Monteverdi Choir will be making their London Handel Festival debuts.

Part of our mission is to celebrate Handel as one of the great Londoners. This year I am thrilled that we will be taking Handel's music into two fantastic new venues for the Festival. For the first time, we will feature performances in the newly renovated Barts Great Hall and the iconic Stationers' Hall, one of the City of London's oldest spaces.

It remains important to us to offer opportunities to engage with our audiences outside of the traditional concert setting. In 2027, I am delighted that we will again be running our very popular Come and Sing! event with our own London Handel Orchestra, and this year we are partnering with Sinfonia Smith Square for a very special family concert. After the success of last year's event, we are delighted to once again offer an exclusive members' evening at Fidelio Café and present a programme of online seminars, all designed to bring you closer to Handel's world.

Closing our 2027 Festival is a revival of the Handel Opera Studio's critically acclaimed production of Aci, Galatea e Polifemo. Described by The Telegraph as "exactly what opera needs," this original Handelian experience offers audiences the opportunity to sail down the River Thames by boat to this production at Trinity Buoy Wharf. Tickets for all our staged works are expected to sell out quickly. Early booking is advised to avoid disappointment.

The London Handel Society is built on core values of excellence, innovation and inclusion. I am proud that the London Handel Festival of 2027 is a true representation of these values, and I have no doubt that whether you have been coming to the Festival for many years or are joining us for the very first time, you will find something here to move, inspire and enrich you.

Beyond the 2027 Festival, we will shortly be announcing plans for a new summer series, and our autumn season in 2027 will focus on the 300th anniversary of the Handel Naturalisation Act. Looking even further ahead, we are beginning to put plans in place for our 50th anniversary year in 2028. Keep your eyes peeled across 2027 for exciting announcements about how we plan to celebrate and honour this significant moment in our history.

On behalf of everyone associated with the London Handel Society, I want to take this opportunity to thank all our members and supporters who continue to ensure this cherished organisation can thrive. Our purpose at the London Handel Society is to enrich lives through Handel's music, and we are in no doubt that without the generosity of our family of supporters, delivering on our purpose would be impossible. For more information about how to become part of our family of supporters, please do get in touch with us or visit our website.

Lastly, I hope you enjoy what our 2027 Festival programme has to offer, and we all look forward to welcoming you to our performances next year.

ARCANGELO

Arcangelo is the London Handel Festival's Principal Ensemble in Residence.

"Period music powerhouse" (The Guardian), Arcangelo is an award-winning, internationally-acclaimed period performance ensemble led by its founder and artistic director Jonathan Cohen. Its ethos is ruled by a determination to apply the deep listening skills and artistry of chamber music making to every piece in its repertoire. The ensemble's collective energy and spirit continue to generate a flood of critical awards and five-star reviews, spark audience ovations, and prompt invitations to the foremost international venues and festivals.

Its four appearances at the BBC Proms include the Proms premiere of Handel's Theodora and a televised performance of Bach's St Matthew Passion; Promming tickets for its 2026 performance of Bach's Mass in B Minor sold out in 12 minutes. In the past 18 months Arcangelo has appeared at Palau de la Musica Catalana, Teatro de la Maestranza Seville, Barbican Centre, DESINGEL Antwerp, Konzerthaus Dortmund, Sala São Paulo, the Rheingau Festival, the Gstaad Menuhin Festival, Muziekgebouw Amsterdam, and launched its new series at Wigmore Hall, 'An English Baroque Journey'.

Arcangelo's debut London Handel Festival presentation, L'Allegro, Il Penseroso ed il Moderato HWV 55, was hailed as a "dazzling opening" characterised by "crisp, spirited playing...lighting up Handel's own parish church" (The Guardian). The Times declared that "you could light a bonfire and more with the gusto of Cohen's musicians", while the Daily Telegraph opined: "To make Moderation seem thrilling might seem impossible, but these wonderful musicians managed it."

Arcangelo's critically-lauded discography now comprises a total of 30 releases led by the 2026 BBC Music Magazine Award nominee: Handel: Chandos Anthems. Further highlights include Buxtehude's Trio Sonatas Op.1 on Alpha, nominated for a 2018 GRAMMY Award; two Gramophone Award-winning albums with Iestyn Davies on Hyperion; a BBC Music Magazine Award-winning survey of cello concerti by C.P.E. Bach with soloist Nicolas Altstaedt; a 2021 studio recording of Handel's Brookes Passion on Alpha, named Album of the Week by BBC Radio 3 and The Sunday Times; and a multiply-nominated concept recording with mezzo-soprano Kate Lindsey, Tiranno.

In 2020, Arcangelo launched its New Ensemblists programme to develop the next generation of ensemble musicians specialised in period performance. The scheme provides a two-year programme of bespoke training and opportunities to outstandingly promising young musicians and is now in its fourth edition.

Jonathan Cohen – Artistic Adviser

Jonathan Cohen is the Artistic Adviser to the London Handel Festival. Jonathan has forged a remarkable career as a conductor, cellist and keyboardist. Well known for his passion and commitment to chamber music, Jonathan is equally at home in such diverse activities as baroque opera and the classical symphonic repertoire. He is the new Artistic Director of the Handel and Haydn Society, in addition to continuing as Artistic Director of Arcangelo, Music Director of Les Violons du Roy, and Artistic Director of Tettbury Festival.

Leading Handel specialists, The English Concert and Musical Director Harry Bicket, return to the London Handel Festival with an exceptional line-up of soloists for a rare concert performance of the 1727 opera Admeto, re di Tessaglia.

Set in ancient Thessaly, Admeto is a tale of sacrifice, desire, and love twisted into a triangle. A king saved from certain death. A queen who pays for it with her life. A rival who seizes her chance to take her place.

Premiered almost 300 years ago, and fuelled by the notorious rivalry between Handel's two reigning sopranos, Cuzzoni and Bordoni, Admeto became an overnight hit.

Featuring some of Handel's most ravishing arias, this rarely heard operatic gem brings to life one of baroque opera's great entangled love stories, performed by some of the world's finest interpreters of Handel's music.

For their second performance of their 2027 residency, LHF Principal Ensemble in Residence Arcangelo and Jonathan Cohen are joined by acclaimed soloists Christopher Lowry and Soraya Mafi for A Handelian Love Story, an originally conceived programme which explores Handel's remarkable catalogue of love duets.

Handel's duets are well loved by audiences. They represent some of the great composer's most intimate and emotionally charged music. Drawing together duets from across his operas and oratorios, including Theodora, Alexander's Feast, Belshazzar and Alexander Balus, this programme traces the arc of a love story in miniature, one aria at a time, capturing love in all its forms.

Interwoven with instrumental interludes from Handel's concerti grossi, it is a programme built entirely around two voices in dialogue. It promises an evening of intimacy and exploration of the rawest of all human emotions: love.

EVENT INFORMATION

Aci, Galatea e Polifemo HWV 72

The Handel Opera Studio is delighted to present a revival of Aci, by the River, an original and critically acclaimed Handel experience centred around a groundbreaking production of the early dramatic work Aci, Galatea e Polifemo.

Aci, by the River takes place on the banks of the Thames, in the visually stunning Trinity Buoy Wharf Lighthouse and Chainstore. Together they will breathe new life into this breathtaking production.

Aci, Galatea e Polifemo is one of Handel's most emotive and daring works: an ancient Greek tale portraying the intensity of young love and how it collides with a world that seeks to control and destroy it, leading to tragic and heartbreaking consequences.

Audiences are given the opportunity to be transported from Central London by boat along the Thames, with the journey itself featuring intimate live performances. Booking for this will open in early January. For those who wish to make their own way, the closest tube station is Canning Town (Jubilee Line).

HANDEL OPERA STUDIO

In 2023, the London Handel Festival launched the Handel Opera Studio, an exciting initiative which aims to place Handel's dramatic works at the heart of the Festival's programme.

The Handel Opera Studio is rapidly gaining a reputation for presenting Handel's lesser-known dramatic works in bold and innovative ways in non-traditional spaces.

In 2023, the Studio presented In the Realms of Sorrow at Stone Nest, directed by Adele Thomas; in 2024, Aci by the River, a daring new production of Aci, Galatea e Polifemo, directed by Jack Furness at Trinity Buoy Wharf; in 2025, Tales of Apollo and Hercules, a Handelian double bill of The Choice of Hercules and Apollo e Dafne, and in 2026, a staging of Handel's Tamerlano. In 2027, Aci by the River will return in a revival by the Studio, bringing this distinctive production back to audiences following its original 2024 performances.

Handel's operas are some of the most widely produced compositions in the UK, and in order to differentiate itself from other companies and opera houses, the Handel Opera Studio places innovation and collaboration at the core of each production. Unable to match the resources of large houses such as the Royal Opera House, Opera North, English National Opera or Glyndebourne, the Studio's ambition is to be a leading light in new interpretations of rarely performed works, focusing on engaging and intimate performances in unique venues.

- We are the only UK organisation that focuses on Handel's life and music in London.
- We celebrate Handel with an annual Festival of 30+ concerts and an International Singing Competition, the launchpad for the careers of young artists.
- Our Opera Studio produces refreshing interpretations of rarely performed Handel works.
- We're not just a spring festival—we also offer a summer and autumn season and year-round events for members.
- You will be supporting our Creative Learning Programme for all.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT

If you wish to join or renew your membership, please email membership@londonhandelfestival.org.uk

We are committed to keeping ticket prices accessible and bringing Handel's music to the widest possible audience. But as a charity, we do all this without regular public subsidy. Our members provide incredible support and are at the very heart of the London Handel Festival community.

"The time after the last note has faded away feels more like the drawing to a close of a private party than a concert."
